

Control Risks

William J. Daly

Senior Vice President & Practice Leader, Security Consulting Services

Bill Daly serves as Senior Vice President and Practice Leader of Control Risks' Security Consulting practice in North America. He is based in New York and is Head of the office. Within this role, he is responsible for managing and conducting a vast array of complex and sensitive projects from the application of advanced security technology for the protection of major corporate facilities to the evaluation of security programs and organizations. Throughout his career with Control Risks, he has developed personal protection programs for corporate executives, high net individuals and celebrities and has supported corporate crisis management teams in the event of a real-life incident, providing advice and liaising with law enforcement and government authorities. He has also served as the corporate security leadership and managed outsourced corporate security programs, working with both private, public and non-profit or non-governmental organizations (NGOs). An acclaimed expert in the field of international security, terrorism, law enforcement and investigative techniques, Bill is often featured in both print and television media. His key deliverables include:

- Led a project team to assist a Fortune 100 company whilst being targeted by an international 'special interest' group. The project included a strategy of monitoring, analysis as well as mitigation/protection strategies for the corporation and its executives;
- Developed comprehensive benchmarking analysis for a major financial institution which was examining the organizational structure and staffing levels of its corporate security organization;
- Provided executive level management for a key personnel protection program of an international banking authority. This program included full-time imbedded Control Risks protection personnel in over 10 locations throughout the world;
- Served as a recognized expert security witness during high profile terrorism related court cases;
- Managed a project team which has served as the retained outsourced corporate security department for a global , multi-brand wine and food products company;
- Delivered findings of an enterprise wide security assessment project to the board of directors of a Fortune 500 company.

Prior to joining Control Risks, Bill was a Managing Director at Kroll Associates where he managed domestic and international projects within their Corporate Security consulting practice. Prior to that, he served as a senior member of Worldwide Security Operations at Merrill Lynch & Co. In this position, he led the design and implementation of security, including data and information security, loss prevention and executive protection programs.

Earlier in his career, Bill was a Manager for Chemical Bank's Corporate Security Department, where he was responsible for introducing security technology solutions for the protection of senior executives as well as critical banking and money transfer systems. Bill had a first successful career with the Federal Bureau of Investigation where he handled a variety of sensitive investigations. He has been recognized for his contributions in the areas of foreign counter-intelligence, national security matters and forensic photography as well as his involvement in major investigations such as the Samuel Bronfman Jr. kidnapping, bank robberies and terrorist bombings at Fraunces Tavern and LaGuardia Airport in New York.

Bill holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science from John Jay College and is a member of The American Society for Industrial Security (ASIS).